MR. LESTER E. YOUNG

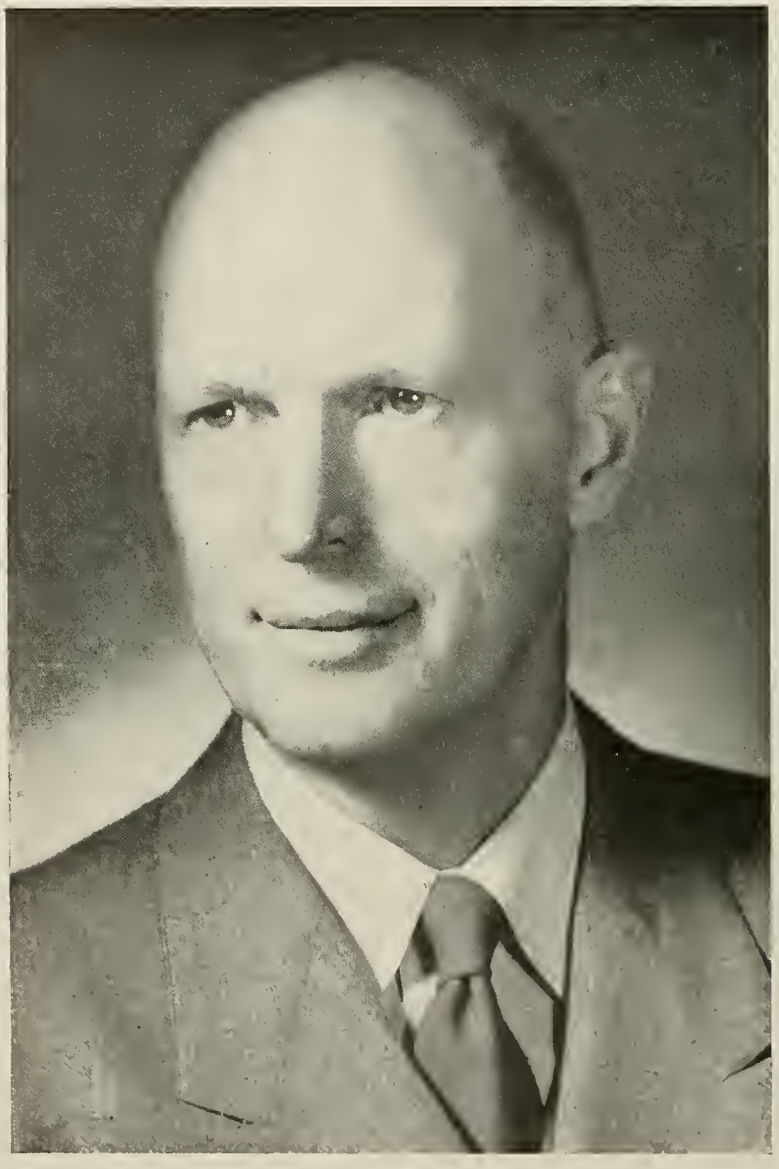
Dedication . . .

In dedicating our Log to Mr. Lester E. Young, we, the class of 1952, hope to show our appreciation and admiration to one whose quiet assistance and wise counsel during 30 years of faithful and untiring service to Melrose High School has endeared him to the hearts and minds of many Melrose students.

HIBBERT L. NORTON

In Memoriam

With the passing of Mr. Hibbert L. Norton, Melrose High School lost a conscientious and talented instructor, a willing and devoted servant. For six years a member of the Music, English and Guidance Departments, he became respected and admired by all those with whom he came in contact. He always had a cheery smile and a good-natured repartee for everyone, always seeming to symbolize happiness and the joy of living, but, at the same time, he maintained the necessary dignity and poise so essential to a successful teacher. His ability, versatility and high ideals have been an inspiration to all who knew him, and memories of his personality will linger in the corridors of Melrose High School for many years hence.



HAROLD W. POOLE

To Mr. Poole

For the sincere interest you have taken in all our activities, for the sound guidance you have given each one of us in the selection of the "right" vocation or college, for these two things especially we, the class of 1952, are particularly grateful to you, Mr. Poole.

In Appreciation

In order to have a successful yearbook, the work of many other than the members of the staff is necessary. This year's staff is fortunate to have had many willing and capable assistants and advisors. Special recognition should go to Mr. Dixon, who devoted a great deal of his time and energies to our cause; to Mrs. Foster, whose counsel was invaluable to the art staff; to Miss Ring and her typists, who so expertly and efficiently typed our material, and to the English teachers for their willing help.

Here's To You, Fifty Two

I

This wonderful class of '52
Has traditions old and ideas new;
We have every type represented here,
Some rate a laugh and some a tear.

II

Of course, there are grinds and teacher's pets,
And even brownies with no regrets.
We also boast of a genius or two,
And bluffers to us are nothing new.

III

We have glamour girls and handsome boys
Who fill the halls with joyful noise.
We like to sing and also dance,
And maybe even like romance.

IV

We have lunchroom feuds and favorite gangs;
Johnny Ray sure gives us pangs.
We like football games and all the proms,
And hate exams in all their forms.

V

You see us in cars of every variety,
Some are unfit for polite society.
With drivers of every possible kind,
Including some who must be blind.

VI

Now that our high school days are done
We all agree that they've been great fun.
We'll also admit that this is true —
There's no better class than '52.

PARENTS, TEACHERS, AND FRIENDS:-

Welcome! On behalf of the Class of 1952, I repeat—welcome! Welcome to the traditional observance of Class Day—only this time you are our cherished guests to an exceptional Class Day—That of the Class of 1952.

You are invited to glimpses of revelations of our past, to optimistic hopes for our future, and to our gay mood of today.

Class Day logically marks an end to four years of high school, but to us it is but a pause before the commencement of our work and progress through life—The life for which the past four years in Melrose High School were a preparation.

And now, sit back, relax, and help us make the pause that commences a joy to you from The Class of '52.

History of the Class of 1952

By Carol Hyndman

On New Year's Day most people like to stop and take a few minutes out of the rush and turmoil of their life to relax and think back on the year which has gone by. They recall with a certain feeling of pride and satisfaction the worth-while things they have accomplished. Laughing again at the things they did just for the fun involved, they realize that they have had some very enjoyable lighthearted times along the way with their friends and that, in its own way, the play has been just as important as the work. Now as we in the Class of '52 are about to leave Melrose High School, we want to take a minute or two out of all the excitement of graduation to recollect the events of the past four years. As we recall those four wonderful years, we realize how much we have learned during the time betwen our first day as freshmen and the end of our senior year. Not only have we made a good-sized step in the direction of being educated, but we have really had some good times too that we will recall with pleasure in the years to come.

When we entered the fair halls of M. H. S., we were the proverbial gullible freshmen who did not know very much about anything. However, it did not take us too long to get settled, and after several very trying weeks the air around us began to fade to a lighter shade of green.

Even in our first year we were allowed to have two representatives on the Student Council and two of our number, the Beans Incorporated, Roger and Paul, were elected to the positions.

That year two of the girls of our Class showed their talent and were chosen for the drum-majorette squad. These girls were, of course, Gail Chew and Jill McLauglin.

The Cloak and Plume presented two excellent plays that year, "The Maid of Brazzaville" and "Aunt Hetty." Think back for a moment and I am sure you will recall Bob Mathews, Janine King, Doris Diehl, Marjorie Jones, Sally Bowman, and Donald Reed all turning in excellent performances.

In the sports department several members of our Class set out to prove that there was also a bit of athletic prowess in the Class of 1952. Among those were Joe Milano and Paul Bean on the freshmen football team, Earle Seaman as a pitcher on the baseball team and Tom Hancock on the golf team. John Ramsay meanwhile was showing his marksmanship on the rifle team.

The girls too were well represented on the various athletic teams. Aina Palm in the second base position and Cynthia Miller as shortstop turned in creditable performances on the softball team.

And so June came and with it the end of our freshman year.

At the end of three months of fun in the sun, we were ready to come back to the hallowed halls of Melrose High School and become important sophomores.

We got the year off to a good start by electing Paul Bean as president of our Class; Bob Mathews, as vice-president; Aina Palm, as secretary; and Patricia Eastman, as treasurer.

More players from our Class began to rise on the various athletic horizons. At the football games Bob Mathews, Harold Jacklin, and Warren Charles were rooted for loudly and strongly by the Class of '52. At the basketball games our Class cheered Earle Seaman, Paul Bean, and Gray McMullin on to victory. This was the year that everyone became very interested in hockey as our team won not only the Greater Boston Interscholastic and the Metropolitan Hockey Tournaments, but also claimed the New England Crown. The Class of 1952 was represented by Donald Dewsnap on this illustrious team as it skated on to one victory after another. On the cross country team, we were represented by John Arnold who was the first sophomore in a number of years to win a cross country letter.

By this time just about all of us had become active in some school activity. One more of our girls was added to the drum-majorette squad, several of us joined the band while still others were accepted to the Imprint staff.

Melrose High School played host to the forty-two schools of the Eastern Massachusetts Division of Student Councils that spring, an event which brought much honor and prestige to our school.

After the new cheerleaders were chosen, three girls from our Class were included on the new squad.

It was also that spring that the Eastern Massachusetts Music Festival was held in Melrose, the brilliant parades and concerts filling Melrose with music for the day.

During the year, Mr. Wilder resigned as Headmaster and was replaced by Mr. Poole to whom we all owe many thanks for helping us through our school career.

Summer was here again and the next time we entered the doors of Melrose High School it was as juniors.

This year was, as the others had been, an enjoyable one for all of us. We started it off by rooting hard for a determined, if not too successful football team, to which were added Paul Sullivan, Paul Bean, Thomas Hancock, and Peter Brown.

The girls were, as ever, very interesed and active in sports; among the many who did a fine job on the teams were Ruth Jeffery, Mary Solari, Janine King, Phyllis Duke, Mary Leahy, Carol Herrick, and Elsa Joyce. Ann Robbins was the vice president of the Girls' Athletic Association.

One of the highlights of that year was the Junior Prom which our Class enjoyed not only in attending but also in planning. The decorations committee, directed by Sally Stanford and Doris Diehl, turned the gym into a miniature Holland with tulips and Dutch figures.

The Student Council listed John Driscoll and Mary Solari as the Junior Class Members.

The results of the elections were practically indentical to those of the year before. Again, Paul Bean was president; Bob Mathews, vice-president; and Aina Palm, secretary. The only change was the election of Janet Lundquist as treasurer.

The weeks went by, and soon it was time for the Masque and Wig to present its excellent production of "The Seven Keys to Baldpate." Thomas Jackson exhibited outstanding acting ability as he played the lead. In supporting roles were Marjorie Jones, Patricia Hjerpe, Lester Dewis, and Ruth Jeffery.

Douglas Kenney brought much honor to himself and to M. H. S. by being one of the twelve winners named at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Science Fair for his weather recorder.

"The Mikado" put on by the Glee Club under the able direction of Mr. Withington was a big hit on March 30 and 31, and saw Bob Mathews and Marilyn Egan in starring roles.

During spring vacation seventy-eight members of the Class of '52 went to Washington with Mr. McPheters. Here they learned many things of historic and political value and had a marvelous time doing so.

The Girls' Club elected four juniors to take over the reins of the departing seniors. The new officers were President, Aina Palm; Vice-president, Cynthia Miller; Secretary, Ann Robbins; Treasurer, Joan Sheridan.

Several more of our girls joined the cheerleading squad thus adding Sabra Friend, Janet Lundquist, Joyce Adler, Ann Tringali, to Carol Herrick, Ann Robbins and Lorraine Savage three who had qualified the year before.

The Imprint was given over to the direction of Editor-in-chief, Bob Greene; Managing Editor, Robert Mathews; News Editor, Winifred Sibley; Feature Editor, Carol Hyndman, Sports Editor, John Driscoll; Copy Editor, Sally Gardner; Make-up Editor, Ann Tringali; Exchange Editor, Bettye Ellis; Alumni Editor, Richard Pitts; Circulation Manager, John Kaneb; Business Manager, Frank Giovino; Advertising Manager, Gardner Brewer; and Cut Editor, Sally Sawtelle.

In June, Robert Mathews and Paul Bean were sent to Boys' State and were elected Lieutenant Governor and State Commissioner of Correction respectively, Ann Robbins was elected State Auditor at Girls' State.

And so another year passed and summer was here again to enjoy without the thought of homework to haunt us. Then came fall and with it we became seniors, a state to which we had long looked forward.

The first thing we did as seniors was to elect Paul Bean as president of the Class and Aina Palm as secretary for their third consecutve year. The other two officers were new to the positions; they were John Driscoll as vice-president and Chester Caldwell as treasurer.

A cloud passed over the sunny days of senior year when Mr. Hibbert L. Norton passed away. He had been a good friend and advisor to most of us, and we will long remember him as such.

The Masque and Wig put on a gala production of the comedy "You Can't Take It With You" this year, starring such veteran players as Marjorie Way, Marjorie Jones, Patricia Croto, Kenneth Ford, and Robert Greene.

The Melrose Community Council played host to eleven of our seniors, who were invited to express their views on Melrose and offer their criticism and suggestions for improvement.

In our final year the boys in our Class turned out to play with eager hearts the various sports with which they were associated. The football team, although still not winning very many games looked much better than in preceding years. Among those who put much spirit into the team were Donald Bingham, Frank Giovino, Gardner Brewer, Robert Rhodes, Harvey Graves, Robert Hefford, and Roger Demaris as well as those who were veterans of other years.

The basketball team was led to a good season by Paul Bean, Roger Demaris, Gary McMullin, Frederick Burnham, Wolcott Smith, Earle Seaman, and Kenneth Ford.

Displaying their skill on the baseball diamond were Paul Bean, Earle Seaman, Richard Maher, Peter Brown, Donald Bingham, and Roger Bean.

The cross country team with seniors John Arnold, Richard Dias, Richard Thorp, and Richard Brooke brought a taste of glory to the school by winning the Pioneer Division Championship and being chosen along with Boston English to represent Massachusetts in the New England meet at Montpelier, Vermont.

The seniors who by achieving high Scholastic rating were elected members to the Honor Society were: Shirley Chaplin, Janice Murphy, Jill McLaughlin, Marjorie Jones, Joan Sheridan, Sally Gardner, Elsa Joyce, Patricia Croto, Wallace Baxter, Barbara Doggett, Robert Mathews, Robert Greene, Adele Nicholson, John Kaneb, Barabara Seavey, Wolcott Smith, Winifred Sibley, Richard Brooke, Sabra Friend, Paul Brown, Beverly George, Frank Giovino, Janine King, Janet Lundquist, Helen Murphy, Janet O'Brien, Mary Oliver, and Richard Pitts.

Our Log this year was edited by the following people: Robert Greene, Editor-in-chief, with literary staff made up of Winifred Sibley, Donald Dewsnap, Joan Sheridan, Thomas Jackson, John Driscoll, and Robert Mathews; John Kaneb, business manager, with a business staff made up of Constance Bemister, Robert Russo, Frank Giovino, Paul Brown, Jill McLaughlin, and Ann Robbins; and Carol Hyndman, Art editor, with an art staff made up of Shirley Chaplin, Roger Bean, Louis Brown, and James Wild.

And now our four years are over, and we are ready to leave Melrose High School in a few short hours. The future depends on what use we make of the knowledge we have acquired up to this point and what we will continue to gain. God grant that we may continue to live by the light which burns from the fuel of intelligence and education and find the way to create peace and brotherhood throughout the world.

Statistics of the Class of 1952

By Elsa Joyce

This afternoon you are extended a cordial invitation to view the greatest collection of masterpieces ever to be displayed in Melrose. You are indeed fortunate and privileged to be present at this, our only formal showing of these famous character protraits. Each portrait has been posed for by respected residents of Melrose, painted by that modern French artist, Monsieu le Senior Classe, and judged noteworthy by those best fitted for such decisions—their classmates.

I shall now select the most eminent portraits from the catalogue and describe them to you.

The first, a symbolic composite, was completed sometime during the late part of 1951. The background of this portraiture highlights shades of blue. The foreground consists of a number of graceful youths, seventeen years of age, with lovely garlands of their favorite flower, the rose, festooning their brunette locks. Each, about 136 pounds in weight and 5' 6 1/2" in height, is found dancing in a size 7 shoe, playing basketball, preparing to indulge in Beechnut or Spearmint gum, and later partake of that ever popular coke concoction on the table and — believe it or not — in the background a few are studying from texts marked "History." The critics agree that they are very accurate portrayals of a typical M. H. S. senior in the Class of '52.

One of our more beautiful portraits is called "Our Gal Sal." It consists of a single feminine figure with a halo of golden curls, mischievous blue eyes, uptilted nose, and a smile radiating like sunshine. Most appropriate is the title given to our best-looking model, Sally Stanford.

The companion portrait is that of a young man tall, dark, handsome, and carefree — our best-looking male member, Harvey Graves.

An interesting painting is that of a couple, well-known as artists in the field of dancing, demonstrating their skill. If you look more closely, you will identify Paul Ryan and Sara Waddell.

The next one is posed for by Ruth Jeffery. Colorfully attired in sports clothes and carrying a tennis racket and a basketball, she represents our idea of perfection in girls' athletic competition.

In the companion portrait is the figure of a young man wearing a baseball uniform and a football helmet while hustling down a basketball court. Certainly there is no question in your minds that this is President Paul Bean, our most popular, as well as our most athletic boy.

Among this group is a painting of the ever-popular Aina Palm, busied with the secretarial work of our class and with a gavel in her other hand maintaining order at Girls' Club.

Melrose High's Kathryn Cornell is next in line, and the model, Marjorie Jones, one most adept in playing either serious drama or comedy.

That beside Marjorie's is Tommy Jackson, 1952's John Barrymore, who displays an equal amount of talent on the stage.

In another section of the gallery is the canvas of a girl dressed in the latest New York fashions approved particularly by Monsieur Classe. The model is Sabra Friend.

Her counterpart is Frank Giovino, our male fashionplate.

Next in line is the picture of a couple not quite so well known as the rest. Both have their eyes cast down, and a deep shade of red colors their faces from their necks to their ears. Who else could the models be but Shirley Chaplin and Roger Bean, "Our Most Bashful Boy and Girl?"

Another portrait is posed for by Pat Croto. In this picture we find our model settled in a comfortable plush chair and looking "most studious" with a Latin book propped up on her knees.

An extremely intersting canvas is that entitled "You Can't Be True, Dear." It consists of one of the fairer sex dropping a very lacy handkerchief. This portrays our class flirt, Patty Eastman.

Companion to this canvas is one called "Perfidia," posed for by Earle Seaman. In this picture Earle is surrounded by a number of beautiful women. Is it any wonder that he is 52' ladies' man?

In our next picture we find a group of four. Two seem to be telling some sort of tale to another couple who are doubled up with laughter. The first two are our class wits, Artie Stevens and Chet Caldwell. Their admirers are our class gigglers, Joyce Adler and Margie Scott.

This masterpiece is called "There's A Song In The Air" and is a picture of a prima donna on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House. The model is Marilyn Egan.

Another portrait of particular interest is one in which two girls, Helen Elo and Bettye Ellis, are bound together with a ball and chain. Its title—"A Perfect Friendship" or "Class Pals."

There is one of Jody Beaver in the act of learning a new dance step while listening to the latest in hit recordings. Is it any wonder she received the title of "Class Swing Fan?"

Suzi Hyndman now models for us in a unique costume of smock and beret carrying her brush and pallete, all of which symbolize her as our class artist. Suzi has also won the title of "Most Original."

Behind a maze of test tubes, retorts, bunsen burners, and chemistry bottles we see a genius, Winnie Sibley. Anyone who can analyze so easily the many mysteries of chemistry certainly deserves the title of "Class Genius."

Next in line is the portrait of a young man who is already half way up a ladder. You could not mistake Bob Greene, our choice for "Most Likely To Succeed."

On another canvas is modeled a very dignified personage carrying a pair of spectacles and holding her chin high. She is easily recognized as Janet O'-Brien, our "Most Dignified."

Now is pictured Rose DeSilva with a crown of laurel leaves upon her brow, our choice for Poet Laureate of the year.

A clock stands on the wall of an office, which looks very familiar. Its hands points to 8:16 a. m. Now whom do we see in the act of rushing through the doorway? — None other than Bob Russo, our selection for Least Often On Time.

In our next portrait is a girl dressed in a robe of pure white. On her shoulders are a pair of silver wings, and around her head a golden halo. The model is Dorothy Estabrook — Class Saint.

Connie Bemister and Chet Caldwell posed for this painting of our Best-Natured Boy and Girl — a title most appropriate for a couple who never forget to smile .

For our Class Exaggerator we find Dorrie Diehl posing behind a giant telescope looking down upon the world through rose-colored glasses.

In this last picture we see a portrait of two of our male members. One seems extremely pleased with himself while the other holds a slip ordering him to report for make-up work. That most successful bluffer is George Deane; the least, Bill Kennedy.

And so we come to the end of our wanderings through the M. H. S. gallery. I have certainly enjoyed being your guide on this brief trip.

Prophecy of the Class of 1952

By Marjorie Jones

Hello, everybody! I am on a rocket ship headed for the Moon. It is the year 1967, and the Melrose Colony is well established now so I am on my way to see if I can find employment before I volunteer for the experimental colonization plan. This rocket ship is a smooth-looking and smooth-acting affair, piloted by ELBRIDGE GERRY, with FRED BESHONG co-pilot. DOTTY ALLEN and DOT DOUCETTE are the hostesses, and are seating their many passengers, among whom are KATHERINE KEOHAN, SARAH WADDELL, PAULA VAKA, MARY SOLARI, EVELYN PENNY, and JEAN DIAMOND. We're traveling fast — we've just passed outside of the earth's gravity area — and are now in the troposphere. Lunch is being served, and come to think of it we're all hungry. PAT EASTMAN! AINA PALM! and JAN MURPHY! acting as hostesses to earn their tuition to the Moon-Strata University! They served us an atmospheric salad and acid soup which really was delicious. BETTY BAIN waved across the aisle; she's returning to the moon after an earth visit with her family. There seems to be some commotion in the lower lounge, but the signal goes on for us to fasten saftey belts. JIMMY ASHWORTH rushed from the control room — and AINA has just told us he is the ship's doctor.

We found later that Dr. Ashworth had to give first aid to DICK ALLEN and BETTY MacDONALD who had forgotten to adjust their oxygen units properly as we went through the stratospheric area. The rest of the passengers seem to be doing nicely with the aid of the pressurized cabins. I see DON REED, the famous Naval Lieutenant among the passengers. It seems he's going to command a new fleet on the Moon. And there's GEORGE DEAN and he's playing cards with — BUDDY KIRMES, uh—HARVEY GRAVES, and DON HOAR! They are reported to be going to the Moon colony to establish a branch of the Melrose Trust Co. And next to them is the world-renowned artist of the piano, JOYCE ADLER, who is, I understand, to make her strata debut in the Orion stadium next month. Gossip has it that her excellent agent and secretary, ANN AHMAN, is leaving her to promote the team of MARILYN EGAN and JACKIE MARCH in their unprecedented rise to fame. Their accompaniest, JOANNE BEAVER gave up her earthly work to assist them in their inter-steller concert tour.

I am not amazed at the excitement MARILYN BARBRICK is causing, since She's such a favorite TV star. She is scheduled for a personal appearance tour on the moon. The passengers are fascinated by her as she is being interviewed by WALLACE BAXTER from the New York Times. The light on the panel signals us to secure landing gear, and zoom — here we are. The doors open slowly, and we catch our first glimpse of the moon. Our rocket taxis are waiting, operated by KENNETH FORD, TOMMY HANCOCK, ROGER BEAN, DICK MAHER, and BUDDY PERKINS — all slick and handsome in their Marovian uniforms, who whisk us off to the hotel, where we are greeted by BRUCE BENGSTON, the present manager. RAY FAIRMAN, the Assistant Manager, very quietly and efficiently saw to it that we secured our rooms and were made comfortable. We had arrived at the hotel about dinner time, when work for the day was over and the time set aside by the planners of the moon civilization for leisure and recreation had come. So, after we dressed for dinner, we came to the dining salon — a beautiful, spacious affair overlooking the Milky Way. The scenery is just out of this world! As I surveyed the room searching for faces I knew, BOB BERRIGAN slipped from somewhere and approached my table. We chatted for a few moments, and I learned that he and his men have been hired by the hotel to protect the lives and properties of the guests — and a glance around shows why—

— The ladies are simply ablaze with star sapphires, glowing moonstones, and other fabulous jewels. Just the other day FRANK GIOVINO, HAROLD JACKLIN and BOB MATHEWS had detected and recovered a million dollars' worth of precious earth "rocks" as they call them, for JILL McLAUGHLIN who had left them in her purse while she answered an Earth radio call from her husband! She is vacationing here with CAROL GERRISH.

BOB summons the waiter (DON NORRIS!) — who brings the menu for my first dinner off earth. And what a menu!

Meteorite steak with Thunder Cloud Gravy

Lightening salad - air space dressing

Whipped star dust - Rainbow sauce

This heavenly menu could only have been dreamed up and be turned out by the noted quartet DICK GOURLEY, AL PERRY, DICK IRELAND, and FRANK AMES. They, as you know, rose to early fame by giving teas to the Melrose High Faculty!

The lights lower and the first act of the floor show is announced — a juggling act starring DICK BROOKE and his Atomic Eggs and BOB GREENE with his Lightning Rods. Very clever, these boys. They received roaring applause. Now it's DOLORES KUHLMANN in her new dance — the Planetary Shuffle, involving more interspacial balance than we're used to on earth. She is followed by GRETA KLINTEBERG and GEORGE LILLY in their famous — Moon Ballet. Suddenly the moon and stars are shut off and an electrical charge crashes through the room — nearly scaring me out of my wits — But I soon realize without appearing too earth bound, that this is the introduction to the next act — The Aurora Borealis Girls — HANNAH LORD, HELEN BABCOCK, HELEN ELO, and ELSA JOYCE who put on a simply beautiful display of colored lights with the new and sensational moon-glow bulbs. I'm going to take one of those home with me for JANINE KING to experiment with in her camera.

CAROL HYNDMAN'S fashion show is next on the program. I hear she has given up her expensive shop in Paris to design clothes here on the moon. SALLY SAWTELLE is modeling her latest creation called "Stardust" because it's made entirely out of rare and expensive pink stars trimmed with silver moonbeams. It looks divine on her. CHARLEEN BEARCE appears on the runway modeling Carol's latest suit to be worn while hurling through space in a flying saucer. It's very light and economical — no laundry problem on the moon you know because they're out of the earth's smoke cloud. What's that— a hat? Yes, I guess it is! It's designed by the world famous CAROL WETTERGREEN and is being modeled by JOAN BLOOD. It is a fleecy cloud with pink and blue stars on top — made to go with Carol's stardust dress! This next creation really is amazing, LORRAINE DEYARMOND is modeling a hat that looks like a volcano erupting — with real sparks, too!!! Here's JOANNE PERSON, modeling those darling magnetized shoes for dancing on atmospheric floors. DORIS DIEHL is modeling the next pair of shoes — They're covered with pedigreed chinchilla flown in from the Earth for women with expensive tastes!

Delicate ethereal harp music steals through the air — capturing the attention of the guests and holding them spellbound. The tune is the "Angel's Serenade" and the harpists — great artists of the imaginary — DANNY SARDO, BOB McCANN, and JIMMY SCENNA. Their performance brings down the house and concludes the entertainment for the evening. General dancing begins with music by JACK LEONARD'S Cometeers. It is a delightful evening but the rarefied air is making me tire quickly so I'm quitting early tonight.

Next morning now, after a long refreshing sleep and a hearty planet breakfast — I am starting out to see what the community has to offer in the way of work for anyone who wishes to join this experiment. I was told that the central planning board has set up an employment agency to keep track of all positions in all branches of life up on the moon in order to facilitate the process for newcomers. So, off I trot to investigate, and you can well imagine my surprise when I meet several more Melrose girls doing the same thing — RUTH RICHARDSON, DOROTHY ESTABROOK, RUTH GREGOIRE, NANCY KEITH, JANET O'BRIEN, and CAROLYN ODEGARD. PAUL BROWN, WALCOTT SMITH, and PETER BROWN who, under the name Brown, Brown and Smith, are running this service provide us with a list of positions open in many fields and give us a rocket cab piloted by PAUL BEAN to help us get from one place to the other without losing too much time. Our first stop is at the hospital. This is a beautifully designed piece of architecture and the rocketeer told me it is a RESTUCCIA building — which, of course, is all that one had to say, for LEO'S fame was all in the air even when in High School! A number of our Melrose girls have made great names for themselves in the medical field here on the moon. CONNIE BEMISTER is the head of the hospital which contains one of the finest research laboratories known to science, earthly or heavenly. OLIVE BRIDGE'S conversion of marshmallow fluff to moonbeam burn ointment is considered outstanding, while the efforts of ANN GREENWALD, CYNTHIA HERMANN, and MARILYN HUFF to improve the Electronic view beam machines are spectacular. HELEN MURPHY has volunteered to be the one on whom they try out this machine, and the experiment is to be performed the next time the moon eclipses with Mars. Then, in another laboratory, CHESTER CALDWELL, JOHNNIE HOWARD, TOMMY JACKSON, and JOHN LADD are working on a very-hush serum which reputedly would revolutionize life, The deterioration of the body would be so retarded that people would be externally young. This laboratory is not open to inspection, so I could just peek at these serious young men engrossed in their work. There are several openings for positions at the hospital — one in the operating room — where we are going next. An operation is in progress — and we can watch from the student balcony as DONALD BINGHAM is performing the tricky interlobectomy — on STUART WORTHING, the local funeral director. This type of operation seems to be common here on the Moon; and the medical research team of BILL CARGILL, AL JOHNSON, and DON LOWE has just published a paper explaining it as an atmospheric adjustment process which has to do with the regulation of the difference between earth pressure and moon pressure within the ear. RONNIE LOFGREN & GARY McMULLEN are in the balcony too and will soon complete their internship and start their own practices. There are several of the nurses here in the balcony, too — watching the operation — PEGGY REED, PHYLLIS MONTAGUE, PAT HUNEWILL, ANN POWELL, ADELE NICHOLSON — and they waved to me across the room. I decided quickly that the operating room is no place for me — so we go on to the reception room and general offices. There BETTY HEWITT — stiffly starched and trim — is doing ten different things at once seemingly — and keeping everything in the hospital going on a split-second schedule. Her two long suffering tired-looking secretaries — WALDENA WHITE and LOIS GRANT are struggling to keep the pace. One of these positions is to be available — but I think this office is no place for me — and quietly slip on to another building.

The next on the list is the school. I know I can't apply for the teaching position that is vacant, but I want to stop in to say hello to some Melrosians who are there. BILL KENNEDY as the principal — is very busy — and only talks to us a few seconds, but he called his submaster BOB DEMPSTER — who graciously takes us all over the new building which was just completed in 1965. We stop to chat with JOE MILANO, head of the English Department before we peek into the assembly hall where RUTH JEFFERY and MARY LEAHY are putting on a tennis exhibition in order to stimulate interest in an interplanetary championship match. But we mustn't stay to see it, because we have many more places to go before nightfall, so we wave at LUCIAN FRESCO, Head of the Math Department before we take the rocket cab downtown to the Administration Building.

This building houses all the executives of government and all public services. We have to register here before we are allowed to visit. The agency told us there were several secretarial positions open — and had arranged interviews for us with some of the men. Our first call is the Mayor's office. The Constellation Party has just been defeated in the recent elections — and the new Luminary Party overwhelmingly voted in WINIFRED SIBLEY to replace DON LEEMAN who had served two terms. GARDNER BREWER greets all V. I. P.'s and Winifred said she will appoint DICK TARR to help him in this official capacity. They assigned us PAUL SULLIVAN as guide — and off we go. My first interview was in the Public Safety Dept. where I was amazed to see JOHN ARNOLD — whose complete reform was evidenced by the fact he had several commendations for safe rocket travel in the 7 years he had been on the Moon. His staff — WARREN JONES, DON CREASE, PAT LEONARD and CLAIRE STAMEGNA — are the models of propriety and conservatism in the launching and guiding of rockets. We shake hands cordially and then are escorted to the Public Works Department — where the huge artificial cloud-condensers manufacture all the water used on the moon. This gigantic enterprise was the brain-child of DOUG KENNEY, who, because of experiments in world weather conditions, was drafted by the government to be one of the first explorers.

As we pass to the Fire Control Department we catch a glimpse of the police Dept. holding their morning drill and I see some faces I know here too! JOHN DRISCOLL, BOB HEFFORD and FRANK WILSON — RICO ROSSINO — what muscles!

We come next to the Fire Control unit managed by ROGER DEMARIS whose assistants JEANNE COLLINS, CAROLYN BRUNS, BETTY COURLEY look super in their plaid asbestos jumpers with gas masks to match. No vacancies there — but I am scheduled to meet a MR. OLSEN — in the Chemical Appliances Division — Olsen — Olsen — that name strikes a bell somewhere — Sure enough it is PAUL who — at this moment is engrossed in a new experiment he is conducting with CAROL HERRICK, ART JOHNSTON and BOB NICHOLS. They have taken a rainbow beam, and are trying to duplicate the color for the manufacture of a dye which could be exported to the earth for fabrics used in earth fashions. So far, no luck — because atmospheric conditions make earth fabrics fade. He needs a secretary — and I'm almost tempted to accept, but I do want to see what the business section has to offer. So before I decide, I'm going to hop downtown and interview some of them.

The Strata — Free Press is advertising for a copy girl and that might be a good position. You know PHYLLIS DUKE is the editor of the Strato Free Press — and guess who the reporters are? SALLY BOWMAN — a well known news gatherer — and JOHN KANEB famous for his factual (?) information. The paper is just coming off the press — and my attention is galvenized by the front pages — PAT CROTO caused a hilarious riot yesterday by crowning ED DELANEY Poet Laureate of the colony instead of ROSE DE SILVA. Pat was late — and according to her — everyone looked alike in those space clothes, so poor Ed got crowned, and we mean crowned! Pat's only been here a year — she is the French Instructor in SALLY GARDNER'S select school for Strato — students — where SABRA FRIEND and BARBARA DOGGETT have their space cadet kindergarten. Incidentally, the faculty of this select school strato students includes DICK THORP and MYRON WILDER — those mad scientists — who discovered which came first — the chicken or the egg. However, their secret has not yet been released for fear rival colonies would use it for destructive rather than constructive purposes. BEVERLY GEORGE and BEVERLY GRAY have charge of the commercial course. Their enrollment from the earth is to be the greatest ever next year. JAMES RHODES and KEN ROOS to the Air Patrol Curriculum — JOAN FAIRBANKS, CAROL SANFORD, LORRAINE SAVAGE and WARREN CHARLES in the Scientific Arts course.

Speaking of college, the faculty is quite concerned by a bill before the Mayor, introduced by JAMES PRESTON and PAUL RYAN which would outlaw homework from the Moon colony entirely. A heavenly idea!

I saw an ad for the cutest astral gown I've ever seen — so I am going to the shops to look around. The ad said BROWN'S — but I hadn't expected to see LOUISE and NANCY as partners! Such an attractive shop they have. I have bought the dress and then of course, had to have shoes and a hat to go with it! They directed me to MARTHA WRIGHT'S Hat Shop where I found just the right helmet — and off now I'm in search of shoes—boots as they call them on the moon. Of course, I'll get them at MILLER'S — KENT MILLER'S that is. I can hardly wait to get back to the earth to show off my outfit.

But back to the business of finding a position!! The rocketeer takes me next to the Professional building where I am to meet FRED BURNHAM — a lawyer of the firm of BURNHAM, RUSSO, WYATT and RENDALL but we find he is in court and is not available. However, PHYLLIS ERNST, his charming receptionist, receives us cordially and has made an appointment for me at a later date. She is catching me up on the news! It seems that JANE CUSHMAN and her husband are residing in the Sphere — and are well and prosperous; that CAROL GOODWIN also lives here with her family, and that ANN WALSH has just had twins! CAROL MASKELL has been here since the first of the settlement with her husband! I am able to tell them of all the girls on earth who are married — BETTY ELLIS — NANCY HALLAHAN, TERRY HERRICK, PRISCILLA NELSON, PAT HJERPE — JOAN SHERIDAN, CLAIRE DAVIS, RUTH HANNIGAN, ANN ROBBINS was just married last month, and loads of others we knew in our class. MARILYN SATERIALE went with the U. N. in 1960 and is now secretary to the SPANISH legation. She loves her work and wanted me to tell the girls on the moon she would be up on her vacation next year.

Right across the hall from BURNHAM, RUSSO, WYATT and RENDALL is the firm of COLLINS, COLLINS, COLEMAN and CHEW, an importing-exporting organization specializing in interior furnishings and decorations. Our rocket ship had just brought them some Orlon — not manufactured on the moon and JERRY COLLINS was already calling her customers about it. GAYLE COLLINS is busy checking the shipment while ADRIENNE COLEMAN is showing the delivery men what was to return to earth. GAIL CHEW is fluttering around admiring everything — and getting in everyone's way! DON COLLUPY rushes in to see if his special paint brushes have arrived and waved a hurried farewell as he dashed out to his studio; Adrienne tells me he is painting SALLY STANFORD'S portrait to hang in ANGELA LOPZ' gallery. He has already completed JANET LUNDQUISTS'. We have time for a quick run over to see some of the paintings there — and find many striking originals by RUTH HAYES and JULIE DUCHI, not to mention DARRELL KEENE and JIMMY WILD who came to the moon two years ago to make a pictorial record of life on this new planet. We happened on a study of JEAN CARNEY'S exotic horticutural importations — Flowers and shrubs are rare on the moon and must be carefully cultivated. Jean's violets and dandelions looked just like those on earth! It may seem odd, too, but there are no native domestic animals on the moon! ARTHUR STEVENS, DOTTY SIBLEY and DON THOMAS are very successfully raising horses, cats, cows and dogs for their economic value to the colony.

The shipment is causing quite a ruffle in this Administration Building, because many people are receiving things they had ordered from home — little things like: a pillow for JAN HURLEY'S desk chair; powder puffs for MARY NOONAN, Kleenex for RUTH ETTINGER, a fountain pen for DOUGLAS WRIGHT; a typewriter eraser for BETTY LYNN, a pair of high heels for JUDY GATES; a hard-bristled toothbrush for BARBARA HOLDEN; a new charm bracelet for MARIETTA LASKEY; a hair-trimmer for ANN MacLEOD; some suntan lotion for JUDY MATTHEWS; a curling iron for CYNTHIA MILLER; a new theatrical make-up box for DICK PITTS; and such things which are hard to get here on the sphere . CONNIE MacNEVIN sent for a whole carton of black gum drops and is sharing them with JEANETTE NICKERSON. Their office is in the one insurance company on the Moon, MacDONALD, RAMSAY, SEAMAN and ROSS. RAY, JOHN, EARLE, and KEN started out on a shoe string — and now have this huge office with four secretaries each. NANCY STURGIS and MILDRED WEBSTER recently joined the firm, but we understand from RAY that one of them is to be married soon — thus leaving an opening. BARBARA SEAVEY has applied for the position and I think she will be hired. BILL CARTER incidentally is the company's private eye — and is working on a forgery case at the present time. Someone signed JOYCE ROGER'S name to an astronomical check and had ruined her business venture with MARILYN DELUCA, producing cloud sifted face powder. EDDIE DONOVAN has just won an award from the company for selling the most insurance for the month, nosing out JERALDINE FERGUSON by one policy.

We all stop to see the library and pay our respects to the new librarian MARY OLIVER who has chosen JEAN MacNEIL as her assistant. JANET O'BRIEN has her name on the waiting list here. We're all starved so we head for the Cafeteria where we hope to see many more Melrose people who work in the Sphere. CAROL DONOVAN and MARGIE WAY still in their testing jumpers are just finishing their lunch as we walk in. ROBERTA FOWLER brings her tray to our table and tells us about her position in the orthopedic division headed by REGGIE PARSONS where they make boots for feet of the outerstellar people who have been attracted to the Moon by the activity of the Melrose Colony. MARCIA TAYLOR beamed at us over her turkeysphere soup! As we were eating—the central communications system warned that we had about 20 minutes before a bad storm would strike. No one lost any time racing for their homes or shelters. BOB SILVA directed us to MARGARET SCOTTS' home where she and SHIRLEY CHAPLIN were having a tea to announce the engagement of ANN TRINGALI. The honors for the smooth execution of this Storm and Civil Defense plan goes, they tell me, to DICK DIAS — who is just about to cut all interplanetary communications. So—until next time—this is Marjorie Jones signing off————————.

Presentations of the Class of 1952

By Rose DeSilva

Opening

Good afternoon parents of this '52 Class
Your sons and daughters really did pass
And now for a while on this, our Class day
A few small gifts I will give away
It's all in fun so watch right now
As each comes up and takes his bow.

KENNY ROSS — ($1,000 dollars)

If ever your car is in need of repair
Go to any gas station Ken will be there
So this $1,000 dollars I present to Ken Ross
To buy a gas station and be his own boss.

EDDY DONOVAN — (joker)

Everyone's laughing - a joke has been told
He keeps people in stitches - his friends he does hold,
So this joker I present to Eddy my friend
If ever you're in trouble a hand he will lend.

DONNIE HOAR, EVELYN PENNY — (wedding rings)

Now for the romance of Melrose High
These two wedding rings I thought I'd buy
They hit it off right from the start
Why, Donnie and Evelyn are never apart.

DONNIE DEWSNAP — (trophy)

Donnie Dewsnap for the all-stars was picked
And the opposite team he helped to lick
We're quite proud — it's an honor you see
And this small trophy is to you from me.

LOU FRESCO — (lie detector)

If you hear a story and it just couldn't be true
You know who's talking it will always be Lou
At exaggerating he's good — really the best
I'll give him a lie detector — his stories to test

GAIL CHEW, CAROL GERRISH, MARILYN BARBRICK, DORIE DIEHL

These are the gals with hair of gold
It's really not bleached so I am told

Gentlemen prefer blondes is what they say
So here is a rinse to help keep it that way.

HARVEY GRAVES, AL PERRY, DICK GOURLEY, FRANK AMES — (chef hats)

Chef hats I present to the four of you
For the fine cooking that all of you do
Your really quite good at that sort of thing
And joy to your wives it surely will bring.

SALLY BOWMAN, CHRIS HYNDMAN, SABRA FRIEND — (bureau)

If an original idea in style you see
You can bet your boots it's one of these three
They have all kinds of clothes — a change for everyday
For each a bureau to store them away.

BOB MATHEWS — (microphone)

At our assemblies your voice we did hear
Each syllable you pronounced loud and clear
But so with speaking you won't be through
This tiny microphone I present to you.

LORRAINE SAVAGE — (lozenges)

To Lorraine the gal with the vitality and pep
When it comes to cheering you sure are hep
I give you these lozenges I know you must need
After those cheers you so aptly lead.

JOE MILANO — (recipe)

If there's any commotion at lunch you'll know
Mrs. Riley didn't save a brownie for Joe
So here's a recipe all for himself
He can fill up the closets and stack the shelves.

SARAH WADDELL — (tea bag)

In return for the many cups of tea
This little scotch lass has shared with me
I give her this tea bag here and now
So come up Sarah Waddell and take a bow.

JERRY FERGUSON — (ticket)

You all know the girl with the dancing feet
Her snappy rhythm is hard to beat
Here is her ticket to the Hall of Fame
If you haven't guessed it — Jerry Ferguson's her name.

STU WORTHING — (carton)

Stu Worthing must be on a peanut butter diet
If you watch him at lunch it's really a riot
For a peanut butter sandwich he will stand and stand
So here is a Carton of his favorite brand.

HANNAH LORD — (express train)

To the girl who runs for the 7:32
An express to John Hancock especially for you
While the train is moving the steps she does board
It's no other than my friend Hannah Lord.

PATSY CROTO, BARBARA DOGGETT, BOB GREENE — (dunce caps)

These are the students that really did work
Their nightly homework they never would shirk
They got straight A's — the answers all right
But I'll give them dunce caps just for tonight.

EDDY DELANEY, GEORGE DEAN — (scotch tape)

Poor Miss Stahl up in room 402
Has had a hard time from the both of you
We know it was in fun but this scotch tape you may need
To keep you mouths still my advice you should heed,

RICO ROSSINO — (can red pepper)

For Rico Rossino his food must be right
Or else he won't touch it — not even a bite
His food to be good has to be real hot
This can of red pepper for him I have bought.

SALLY STANFORD — (soap)

Here's to the girl picked prettiest by election
A cake of soap to care for her complexion
Why she might be a model or even a star
With Sally's looks I'm sure she'll go far.

MARY NOONAN — (blue ribbon award)

If the Beauty parlor's closed, what's the thing to do?
Go see Mary Noonan she's a hair stylist too,
She's helped us all out, and if she'll step forward
On her I will pin this blue ribbon award

I hope it was fun and you enjoyed my repartee
But my gifts and I must be on my way
But wait! what's this! something for me?
Why yes it is — can you all see!
It's an invitation to dine with a well known poet
Well all I can say is wouldn't you know it.

Class Ode

Dear Melrose Alma Mater true,
With honor high and gratitude
WE'll keep thee ever in our hearts,
As on life's stage we play our parts,
Forgetting never lest we fail
The one to whom we say All Hail!

Farewell! beloved Melrose High
We part from thee with many a sigh
With which our future life to face
As one more goal along that way
We pass on this our last class day.

Student Council and Congress

President: John Driscoll
Vice-President: William Flood
Secretary: Aina Palm
Treasurer: Joan Sheridan
Advisors: Miss S. Hume, Mr. Dixon

Made up of the officers from the three upper classes and two representatives from each class, the Student Council was kept busy throughout the school year.

One of the duties of the Council was to send delegates to the fall and spring conventions of the Eastern Massachusetts Divisions of Student Councils. Robert Mathews is the vice-president of the Eastern Massachusetts Division. At these conventions some of the common difficulties in student council procedure were discussed.

The annual dance, the Winter Ball, presented by the Council proved to be a great success with the music of Tony Barrie's Orchestra and a Christmas theme to keep in swing with the season. Two of the celebrities present at the Ball were Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

The task which was most difficult for the Council was the editing of a new and vastly improved Freshman Handbook. This pictorial Handbook should give the incoming students a better understanding of high school life.

The Student Council was given able assistance in its many accomplishments by Miss S. Hume and Mr. Dixon.

Honor Society

	First Semester	Second Semester
President:	Winifred Sibley	Winifred Sibley
Vice-President:	Paul Brown	Wolcot Smith
Secretary:	Sabra Friend	Barbara Doggett
Treasurer:	Frank Giovino	Virginia Pyne
Program Chairman:	Janet Lundquist	Janice Murphy

September, 1951, marked the opening of the Melrose High School Honor Society's sixth successful year. The first induction ceremony was held in September and the second in January. Both were impressive. Seven new members were inducted in September, and twenty-three in January. The present membership of the Society is thirty three.

To become a member of the Honor Society, a student must have maintained a record which placed him on the Honor Roll. When inducted he pledges himself to follow the high ideals and principles appropriate to membership.

Several business meetings have been held at intervals during the year. One field trip was made to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to view the Viennese Art Collection.

The high standards of the Melrose High School Honor Society make membership a coveted honor and confer distinction of which Melrose High School is justly proud.

Senior Speakers' Bureau

"Attention, please!" Throughout the school year these words over the public-address system introduce the daily bulletin of club announcements and other goings-on at M. H. S. The ten members of the Senior Speakers' Bureau, under the direction of Mr. Willard J. Stanewick, are in charge of this familiar school function, as well as that of presenting speakers and reading proclamations at assemblies.

Imprint

Editor-in-Chief: Robert Greene
Advisors: Miss Stahl, Mr. Battles

The official newspaper of M. H. S. is the IMPRINT, published bi-monthly throught the school year.

The paper, carrying news, sports, features, editorials, humor, and pictures is edited by seniors with juniors and sophomores reporters.

Editor-in-Chief and general-overseer is Bob Greene, who writes half the editorials and assigns the other editorials to various staff members. News editor is Winifred Sibley. Winnie assigns all news assignments and keeps tabs on the reporters. In charge of senior celebrities and all other feature articles is Carol Hyndman. Bob Mathews is managing editor, while Jack Driscoll takes care of sports. Other important editors are Sally Gardner, Ann Tringali, Betty Ellis, Richard Pitts, and Sally Sawtelle. Senior reporters are Pat Croto, Claire Davis, Dorothy Doucette, Phyllis Duke, Pat Eastman, Tom Hancock, Ann Greenwald, Marietta Lasky, Janet Lundquist, and Paula Vaka. Miss Stahl's advice, counsel, and suggestions as advisor are both excellent and helpful to the staff.

The financial, advertising, and circulation problems are capably handled by Gardner Brewer, Frank Giovino, and John Kaneb along with Mr. Battles, the business advisor.

Frank Schueler and Fred Gove take all the pictures.

The IMPRINT'S "MARDIGRAS," with Doug Moreleys music, proved to be a great success, under the direction of Miss Westervelt.

Masque and Wig

President: Thomas Jackson
Vice-President: Robert Greene
Secretary: Marjorie Jones
Treasurer: Janine King
Program Chairman: Ann Robbins
Advisor: Miss Kathryn Garden

Masque and Wig, with a very large membership of forty-two, enjoyed a busy and successful season. Ann Robbins with the assistance of Miss Garden and the officers presented many interesting meetings. The major event of the year was the annual play "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and Richard Rodgers. Miss Garden competently coached the players to a smash hit. Robert Greene took the title role and gave an excellent performance. His supporting cast, including many from last year, was composed of Thomas Jackson, Eleanor Faulkner, Frank Goodwin, Marjorie Jones, Edward Hall, Jane Bohman, Sawyer Sylvester, Marjorie Way, Robert Cathcart, Ruth Hayes, Kenneth Ford, Patricia Croto, Arthur James, David Horan, Sydney Smith, Patricia Kane, and Larry Lottridge. The fine aid of the backstage crew, sound effects, prompter, properties, tickets, publicity, make-up, program chairman, stage manager, and ushers made the play a tremendous success and brought many favorable comments.

The Club enjoyed a theatre party in November when members saw Henry Fonda give an excellent performance in "Point of No Return."

The closing months of the year were spent studying radio technique and making recordings of short plays adapted for radio presentation. Also a discerning committee carefully chose the play for next year. As the final curtain rings down on a pleasurable year, our only regret is the departure of so many fine Seniors from our ranks.

Junior Red Cross Club

President: Joanne Person
Vice-President: Constance Bemister
Secretary: Joyce Wilder
Treasurer: Marcia Easson
Advisor: Miss Flora Lutz

The Junior Red Cross Club which meets in room 311 is under the helpful guidance of Miss Lutz. Our membership is made up of a representative and an alternate from each homeroom. After a few meetings our club became so large that we found we could get more work done if we formed separate committees.

Our joke scrap books will soon be finished, to be sent to veteran hospitals along with a colorful afgan.

As in previous years, we have also contributed to the Junior Red Cross Drive. Every little bit helps!

This year we sent eight cartons to Caney Creek where there are many needy families. Caney Creek is an isolated mountain settlement in Kentucky. These cartons contained many useful articles of clothing plus some pretty jewelry and toys.

Through the Junior Red Cross we have helped in a small way to alleviate the hardships of our neighbors and our own sisters and brothers in the armed services. Our success comes from the collective support of our fellow students.

Boys' Rifle Club

President: John Ramsay
Vice-President: James Ruggles
Secretary: Larry Lottridge
Treasurer: David Tyler
Executive Officer: Arthur Johnston
Advisor: Mr. Stackpole

During the 1951-52 season the Melrose High School Rifle Club was moderately successful. The boys won two matches against Winchester and lost one to Malden. The team did very well by making some scores in the N. R. A. Postal Matches.

John Ramsay and Larry Lottridge won medals offered by the American Legion. This year's letter winners are John Ramsay, Larry Lottridge, Fred Dustin, James Thompson, Donald Tanner, and David Tyler.

Girls' Rifle Club

President: Marjorie Jones
Vice-President: Winifred Sibley
Secretary: Janice King
Treasurer: Nancy Goodwin
Range Officer: Sue Daffinee

Under the commendable leadership of Mr. Phillip Stackpole, the Girls' Rifle Club has enjoyed a very interesting and successful year. Credit also goes to the various mothers and fathers who have been present as chaperones each time the girls shot.

Since there was such a large group of senior and junior girls who wanted to join the club, it was decided that two smaller ones should be formed within the main organization. Both of these shot once a week, one on Thursday afternoon, the other, Saturday mornings. Each month they competed with clubs from all over the country in the National Postal Match. In addition they had two matches with the Malden Club.

A high school letter was awarded to each member who received at least four points. To receive these points, it was necessary to be one of the top five in four matches. Also, the brassard was given to anyone who shot a "possible" which is a perfect score of 100 points. Through perserverance and competition, the Girls' Rifle Club members have developed skill and sportsmanship.

Band

President: Nancy Brown
Secretary - Treasurer: Jean Carney
Librarians: Frank Wilson, Stanley Shergen
Director: Mr. Withington
Assistant director: Mr. Phinney

As usual the band has had an extremely busy season. Playing at all but two football games, it entertained the crowd with its peppy music and unique formations. The drum majorettes, led by Gail Chew, looked very snappy in their new red and white uniforms.

Due to rain, the band did not parade Armistice Day but marched with great enthusiasm on Memorial Day. At the North Eastern Music Festival which was held in Everett it marched in the parade and played in the Massed Band Concert.

Music night, followed by graduation brought the years activities to a successful close.

Glee Club

President: Robert Mathews
Secretary: Marilyn Egan
Treasurer: Jacquelyn March

Under the excellent direction of Mr. Wendell Withington, who was ably assisted by Mr. Keith Phinney, the Glee Club enjoyed a busy and successful year. Presentation of the operetta and participation in the Eastern Massachusetts Music Festival were the major events, but the club also made many other appearances.

The Club appeared first when it sang at the Thanksgiving assembly. From then on, the year was a series of performances coming one after the other.

The Christmas Vesper Service and The Annual Concert were received with most favorable comments. The program was also presented to the Rotary Club.

For the first time, respresentatives were sent to the All State Concert at the Massachusetts Music Educators Association Conferences.

Early in March, the Glee Club sang at Memorial Hall in a concert sponsored by the Melrose Orchestral Association. Later on in the month, "Iolanthe," a Gilbert and Sullivan favorite, was presented. The exceptional cast included Richard Pitts, Jack Bohman, Thomas Jackson, John Arnold, Robert Mathews, Jacquelyn March, Martha Thorp, Nancy Kenneson, Claire Young, Nancy-Sue Riley, and Marilyn Egan.

The year closed with the Glee Club participating in Music Night and in the Eastern Massachusetts Music Festival held in Everett.

Girls' Club

President: Aina Palm
Vice-President: Cynthia Miller
Secretary: Ann Robbins
Corresponding Secretary: Mary Solari
Treasurer: Joan Sheridan

Girls' Club has concluded a most outstanding 27th year under the excellent guidance of our sponsor, Mr. McPheters, known to all as "Mac" and the fine leadership of the above officers.

"The purpose of the Melrose High School Girls' Club is to unite the girls of the school in a stronger bond of friendliness; to instill them with the spirit of bettering their lives mentally, physically, and morally; and to urge them to be more dependable to their homes, their schools, and their community."

Under the incomparable leadership of Sabra Friend the Program Committee has provided us with entertaining and inspirational meetings including quiz programs, food sales, demonstrations, amateur night, and addresses by outstanding speakers.

However, we not only have had good times, but also, accomplishing our purpose, have provided others less fortunate than we with the necessary things. Our Welfare Committee has aided many needy families at Chirstmas and Thanksgiving with food baskets; many charitable organizations, and has donated to worthy receivers.

We Seniors, as we graduate and take the fond memories of Girls' Club with us, challenge the future with the friendly spirit and the torch of a better life which our association with Girls' Club has instilled in us.

Cheerleaders

The 1951 and 1952 cheerleading of M. H. S. got underway with the start of the football season. Although this season was disappointing in some respects, on the whole, the spirit and co-operation among the student body, cheerleaders and football team, was very good. Pep was the password and the ten cheerleaders, Judy Stiles, Astrid Palm, Judy Tarr, Sabra Friend, Ann Tringali, Joyce Adler, Janet Lundquist, Anne Robbins, Carol Herrick and Lorraine Savage, certainly demonstrated their ability in this respect.

Immediately following football, the cheerleaders launched into the basketball season. The highlight of basketball was the annual game played with Clinton, Connecticut which was held in Melrose. The seven cheerleaders from Clinton, plus the ten M. H. S. cheerleaders made interesting but friendly rivalry.

Cheerleader classes for the following year began March 7, with 90 girls signing for the schedule of practices to be held until May.

Hi-Y Club

President: Robert Mathews
Vice-President: Frank Giovino
Secretary: Thomas Hancock
Treasurer: Wolcott Smith
Chapalin: Chester Caldwell

The Hi-Y Club is open for membership to any Junior or Senior boy at Melrose High School. The meetings are held every Tuesday evening at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Ernest Huntoon is the club's advisor.

During the year, the clubs presented many interesting programs, which included sports nights, movies, and discussions. Among the well known persons to address the club was Eddie Waitkus, first baseman of the Philadephia Phillies. Several local clergymen and doctors also addressed the club.

The purpose of the club is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character." The club is built on the platform of clean living, clean sports, and clean scholarship.

Library Club

Presidents: Doreen Cataldo - Beverly Doucette
Vice-Presidents: Shirley Keating - Nancy Jones
Secretaries:
Claire Cummings - Marjorie Frederick
Treasurers: Virginia Pike - Gertrude Staples

The Library Club, now in its second year, has had a busy season. Members helped choose new books of excitement, humor, and mystery for the school library. During the weekly meetings assistance was given to Mrs. Rose, the librarian and sponsor, by all of the members who helped to keep the books in order and who prepared the new books for use. Help was also given after school every day in putting the books away and in stamping the incoming and outgoing books.

A trip to the Museum of Science was enjoyed at the end of the year.

Art Club

President: Sally Ann Sawtelle
Vice-President: Kathryn Badessa
Secretary: Sandra Burnett
Treasurer: Elaine Keppe
Faculty Advisor: Mrs. Foster

The Brush and Palette Society, or Art Club, meets every other Thursday afternoon in 314, "the Art room." If you should witness one of these meetings you would see a number of freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors busily sketching, painting, or doing handicraft under the able guidance of Mrs. Foster.

If you had looked in on us this year, you might have seen us sketching a portrait of an "M. H. S. model," drawing a landscape from the window, watching slides, or doing our latest project, oil painting. One of the principal events of Art Club this year was a trip to the Museum of Fine Arts to see the very lovely Viennese Art Exhibit. This was enjoyed by all our members and gave us an idea of the extent and variety of art in other countries.

The Club has been a source of instruction and learning as well as enjoyment. Mrs. Foster is always ready to help anyone to develop a technique, to draw in the perspective, or to shade a picture or highlight it to create the best effect. We have studied the styles and techniques of some of the well-known artists by means of colored slides of their paintings. It is interesting to see how very different the various artists are in their ideas and their portrayal of ideas.

Art Club has certainly proved to be both enjoyable and profitable to all of its members - from the novice to the veteran artist.

Cartoon Club

The purpose of this organization is to take into its membership those of the school who are interested in pictorial sketching. It aims to develop one's talent rather than to teach art, therefore its program does not interfere with that of the Art Department.

The club meets after school to draw original cartoons and than to submit them for approval to be used in the club paper "Chuckles." Robert Williams was elected Chief Cartoonist for the past year.

Current Events Club

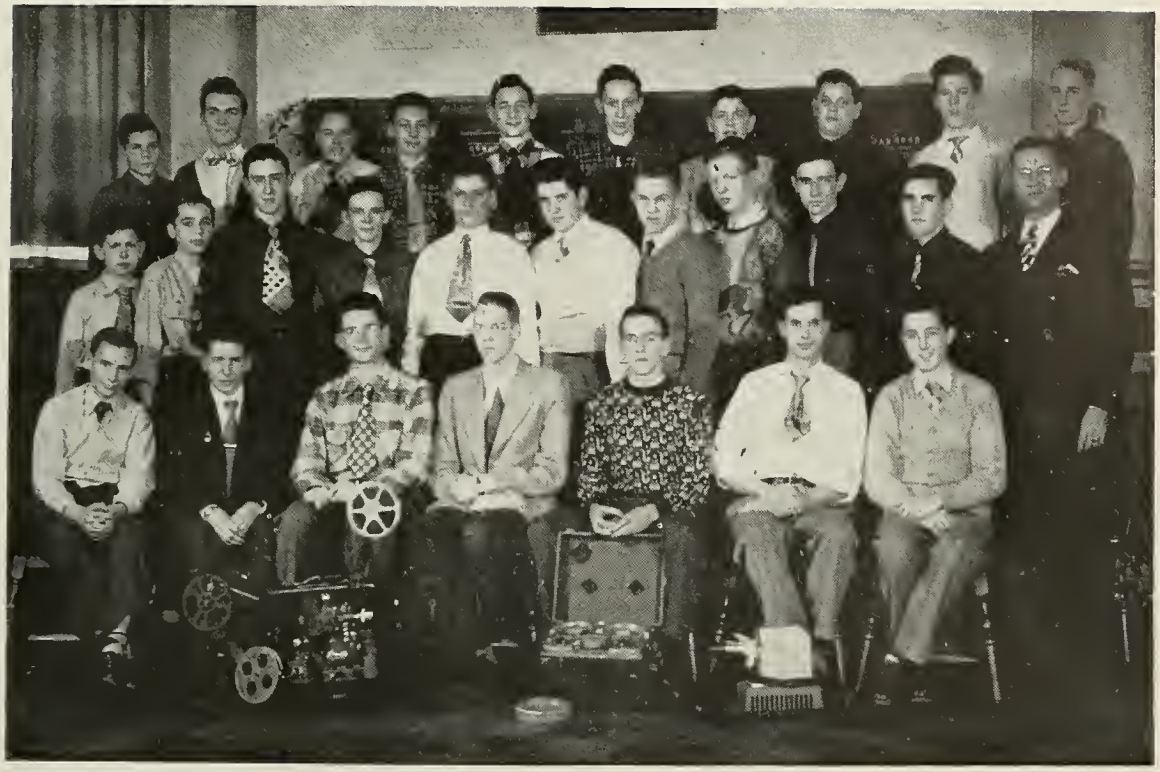
Positive action toward a better program was adopted at the start of the school year by the Current Events Club. Two Program chairmen, Shirley Chaplin and Edward Hall were elected to plan the discussions, field trips and debates.

The club, early in the year, like the citizen groups of our country, was aroused by the prevailant corruption in government and other circles. Many different facets of the situation were presented and enlarged upon by discussion. In the subsequent meeting the issue of scandal in college sports was dealt with in the same manner.

A field trip to the State House in Boston was proposed but postponed on account of bad weather, and the fact that there was no meeting of the House of Representative. The second trip was postponed because of a bus strike, and lack of interest at the time.

Toward the end of the school year the programs consisted of a series of informal discussions: The Far East with Mr. Hildreth's commentary on the situation there as he viewed it during World War II, the condidates and their qualifications - a review of the leading candidates for party nomination in both parties. Material for discussion was received from the campaign headquarters of Eisenhower, Kefauver, Stassen and Taft.

To round out the club's activities a beach party was planned for late in May.



Operators Club

If it is a movie, a tape recording, a filmstrip or slide showing, or the playing of a record or transcription, then it is usually some member of the Operators Club who is responsible for setting up the equipment and returning it.

The Operators Club is made up of approximately 30 boys. These boys make it possible for the teachers to use audio-visual teaching aids in their classes without being concerned with the mechanical set-up of such equipment. Consequently, this club is performing a real service to the teachers and the school.

The officers of the club are:

President: Richard Pitts
Vice-President: Dana Drown
Secretary: Sidney Smith
Librarian: John Ladd

This year's senior members included Douglas Kenney, John Ladd, Robert Nichols, Daniel Sardo, and Richard Pitts.

Modern Dance Club

President: Judy Stiles
Vice-President: Ferne Hayhurst
Secretary - Treasurer: Beverly Heath
Sponsor: Miss Johnston

The Modern Dance Club meets every Monday and often on Wednesday in the Girl's Gym. Everyone participates in rhythmic exercises and creative dance. The yearly goal of the girls is to go to Newton where they are instructed by a noted artist in Modern dance.

The girls danced "The Blue Tango" and "The Syncopated Clock" on Music Night. This was a new experience for most of the girls and was also a debut in public for the club.

Allied Youth

President: Robert Greene
Vice-President: Aina Palm
Program chairman: Edward Young
Secretary: Doris Diehl
Treasurer: Carol Herrick
Advisors: Mr. Walton and Miss Chase

After four years in Melrose High, Allied Youth has the second larest club membership in the school, second only to Girls' Club. The Clubs' purpose is "to seek the truth concerning beverage alcohol and the best way of life in relation to these problems." Members have to make no promise to abstain, but as a result of the fine program provided by Eddie Young, the "best way of life in relation to this problem" is quite evident. Programs have consisted of talks by various ministers, coaches, teachers, doctors, and officials. The Club also viewed many fine documentary films concerning alcoholism.

The annual dance featured a sports theme with Wally O'Hara spinning records.

The big social event of the year was the first annual men teachers vs. boys basketball game. The game attracted over 300 students, filling the gym to overflowing, and swelling A. Y.'s treasury by $83.

Eddie Young, Doris Diehl and Claire Davis represented Melrose at the annual A. Y. convention, held at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania. As a result of the larger bank balance, A. Y. hopes to send even more delegates to next year's convention.

At the present moment the Club is eagerly waiting for the release of the new Allied Youth movie, "Freedom for Youth," which explains the purpose and work of Allied Youth.

French Club

President: Jane Cushman
Vice-President: Sally Gardner
Adviser: Miss N. Yvonne Miche

To join the French Club, one must have had at least one year of French. The meetings are held every second and fourth Friday of the month. A different secretary is appointed at every meeting, to take notes and transcribe them into French for the next meeting. During the year, we have had entertaining slides and movies of France taken by friends of the members of the club who had visited that country. At Christmas we had a Christmas party at which the members exchanged gifts with limericks and cards written in French.

Although a small organization, the French Club has been very active, and its members have thoroughly enjoyed every meeting.

Field Hockey

Melrose may well be proud of the team which represented them in the field hockey games this year. The girls demonstrated excellent team work. The stick-handling along with the sportsmanship helped to make this team one of the best Melrose High has ever had.

Among those girls' on the varsity team who contributed to the teamwork were the following seniors: Carol Herrick, Barbara Holden, Elsa Joyce, Cynthia Miller, Ann Robbins, and Mary Solari.

This year there was no regular captain. Each game, Miss Babson selected a different captain for each team. In this way, more girls had a chance to represent the team.

Boys' Basketball

Captain: Gary McMullin
Coach: "Doc" Clark
Manager: Jack Driscoll

The 1951-52 Basketball Team under the coaching of "Doc" Clark completed its Middlesex League season with a record of seven wins and seven defeats to take fourth place behind Winchester, Reading and Stoneham, respectively. League champion, Winchester, also, went on to take the State Class B Championship and ended the season without a single loss to mar its record.

Earle Seaman was the team's high scorer and second in the League to Harry Malonson of Stoneham. Outstanding both offensively and defensively, was guard and captain, Gary McMullin. Other stellar performers who had given their services to the varsity in past years were: Paul Bean, Rog Demaris, and Fred Burnham.

In a post-season game, Melrose was defeated in its annual game by Morgan High of Clinton, Connecticut. Morgan went on to win the Class B Title in its state after this conquest. In this series, Melrose has now won two contests while losing one.

Girls' Basketball

Coach: Miss Babson
Manager: Martha Wright

During the 1952 basketball season, the girls played nine games, four of which were held at the opposing teams' schools.

Different captains were chosen at each game.

Coached by Miss Babson, the girls worked hard; the first and second teams were each able to win three games. This was an improvement over last year's season.

The highest scorer for the first team was Ruth Jeffery, who made sixty-nine points for the team. Mary Solari ran a close second. Excellent guards were Carol Herrick, Elsa Joyce, and Sabra Friend.

Karen Bryant brought in the most points for the second team. Phyllis Duke made the next highest number. Among the guards for this team were Marsha Harrington and Jane Foss.

The managers were Martha Wright, Ruth Minott, and Delores LeSaffre.

Football

Co-captains: Paul Bean, Robert Mathews
Coaches: Dave Gavin, Hugh MacFarland.
Managers: Myran Wilder, Robert Rendall

Despite a winless season, the coaches and team deserve much credit for the spirit which they showed in the face of defeat. Over scheduling and the team's having to face the four "giants" of class A, Haverhill, Newton, Malden, and Medford in as many weeks proved to be the deciding facters in the Raiders' record.

A mid-season switch from the split-T formation to the Single Wing made a great improvement in the Raiders attack. Coaches Gavin and MacFarland patiently made shifts in the lineup from week to week in an effort to produce a winning combination, but the four lopsided defeats at the onset of the season proved too great a barrier to overcome.

The class of "52" was represented in the backfield by Co-captain Paul Bean, Peter Brown, Dick Tarr, Robert Hefford and Donald Bingham; in the line by Co-captain Robert Mathews, John Driscoll, Harvey Graves, Gardner Brewer, Chester Caldwell, Thomas Hancock, Robert Rhodes, Earle Seaman, Roger Demaris, Frank Giovino, and Paul Sullivan.

Co-Captain Paul Bean received honorable mention as a back in the Boston Herald's all scholastic team.

Girls' Athletic Association

President: Ann Robbins
Vice-President: Astrid Palm
Secretary: Jane Thompson
Treasurer: Cynthia Miller

This year the G. A. A., through its Council which is made up of officers, managers and class representatives, has made quite a few changes in policy. The greatest changes have been in relation to the abolishment of the point system and the inauguration of individual sports awards for extra curricular activities. The Council also worked very hard planning a Freshman-Sophomore Field Day for the spring season. Under the able leadership of Miss Babson who brought many new and progressive ideas with her this year, the G. A. A. has had a very profitable season.

Baseball

Last year's Middlesex League Baseball champions are currently in the thick of a hot race for this year's baseball crown. The nine has won four of their first five games.

Eorle Seaman has already won two games in the young season. Behind him are Peter Brown outfielder-pitcher, and John Rizzo. Heavy hitter Paul Bean is again holding down his third base position. Bean, along with the smooth-fielding Frannie Traill provides Melrose with a strong left side. At the keystone sack is long ball hitter Paul Mowder, while first base duties have thus far been handled by Paul Clinton and Larry Ryan. Doing the catching is Don LeSaffre. The outfielders are Dick Maher, Don Hume, Dick Tarr, and Ed Fogarty.

Girls' Softball

Coach: Miss Jean Babson
Manager: Carol Hyndman

With much spirit and determination the 1952 softball squad displayed their ability against the strong competition of Belmont, Malden, Winchester, Newton, Lexington, Concord, and Arlington.

The players who were veterans of last year's team were Phyllis Duke, Sue Dolber, Jean Bucci, Mary Leahy, and Cynthia Miller. Added to these were newcomers Andrea Carrier, Dorothy Doucette, Karen Bryant, Muriel Pyne, Elaine Keppe, Astrid Erickson, Carol Beck, and Joan Bampton.

Under the able coaching of Miss Babson the girls enjoyed a profitable season.

Track

Captain: Bob Hefford
Coach: Foster Flint
Manager: Al Tobey

Senior members of the 1952 MHS track team include, in the 100 yard dash Chet Caldwell and Gary McMullin; in the 220 yard run Tom Jackson, Ken Ford, Gary McMullin and Bob Mathews; in the 440 yard run Bob Hefford, Ken Ford, George Lilly, Tom Jackson and Dick Brocke; in the 880 yard run Bob Hefford, and Dick Brooke; in the relay Paul Sullivan, Bob Mathews, Tom Jackson, and Don Thomas; in the shot-put event Harold Jacklin, Frank Giovino, Jack Kaneb, Gardner Brewer, John Ramsay, and Chet Caldwell; in the high jump George Lilly; and in the running broad jump Bob Hefford and Gary McMullin. Outstanding lower classmen include Bob Dias, Roger Bailey, Joe Reid, Dick Jones, and Jack Lynch. At this writing the team is hoping for a successful season, having scored a victory over Winthrop in their opening meet.

Cross Country

Captain: John Arnold
Coach: "Doc" Clark
Manager: Bob Nichols and Dave Hutchinson

This year "Doc" Clark coached the Cross-Country team to one of its best seasons. Winning by high scores, Melrose went undefeated through all of its dual meets and won the Divisional Championship. After taking second places in the League and State Meets, Melrose was chosen, along with Boston English, to represent Massachusetts in the New England Cross-Country Championships. Mr. John McGrath, "Doc" Clark, and the first team went to Burlington, Vermont, where the team placed eighth in the New Englands. The '51 squad, paced by Captain John Arnold, Dick Thorp, Bob Dias, Joe Reid, Ronny Hanson, and Len Wallace presented the trophy won at the Divisional Championship to the high school. The team ended its season with a banquet at Belment where "Doc" was given an inscribed plaque by the Melrose Harriers. Since 1937 Melrose has won 90 out of 102 dual meets.

Boys' Tennis

The Boys' Tennis Team, coached by Mr. Hildreth, has had an uneventful season, due to the fact that most of its players were inexperienced underclassmen. Matches have been played with Malden, Watertown, Winthrop, Belmont and Wakefield.

Girls' Tennis

Coach: Audrey Johnston

Only a few girls came out for tennis in the fall, but, with the coming of spring, more and more new faces began to appear on the courts.

The stress this year was on skills rather than actual play, and the girls worked hard perfecting their weak strokes. Although they played only a three-stroke game (forehand, backhand and serve), they showed intelligence in placing their shots.

An outstanding feature which the girls showed was their courteous court manner and neat appearance.

Matches were played with Belmont, Malden, Winchester, Arlington, and Newton. The seniors this year, on a team consisting of three singles and two doubles, were Ruth Jeffery and Nancy Keith, playing first and second singles, respectively.

Golf

This year's golf team was composed of mostly inexperienced players. The seniors on the team were Thomas Hancock and Paul Olsen. The coach was Mr. Wilson. The schedule consisted of six matches, two with each of the following teams: Winchester, Reading, and Wakefield.
